

partner of choice

Stanley Security Solutions Chooses Honeywell

Stanley Convergent Security Solutions, Inc., having won numerous industry and customer awards, has clearly established itself as a premier service and technology provider in the electronic security industry. When selecting a manufacturer for intrusion, video surveillance and access control systems, Stanley CSS selected the premier security equipment provider, Honeywell. Stanley CSS provides commercial, industrial, residential, government and national customers with a single source for great service, cutting edge systems and real-time, online eServices – all of which help customers improve their business operations through a robust security program. Stanley CSS and Honeywell – a winning combination.

Honeywell

For additional information, please call 1-800-467-5875, or visit www.honeywell.com/security.
Pictured from left to right: John Lorenty, President, Honeywell Systems Group; Tony Byerly, President, North America, Stanley Convergent Security Solutions, Inc.; Brett Bontrager, President, Stanley Convergent Security Solutions; Ron Rothman, President, Honeywell Security & Communications.
© 2009 Honeywell International Inc. All rights reserved.